Would you like to become an End of Life Care Ambassador for your workplace?

Expressions of Interest applications close at the beginning of July each year

End of Life Care Ambassador Programme

Rowcroft Hospice and Torbay & South Devon NHS Trust have been running the End of Life Care Ambassador Programme since 2018 training and developing staff within South Devon, e.g. from the hospice, acute trusts, care homes and community services. Ambassadors make workplace changes to improve care by attending taught days and receiving peer and mentored support to design and run a project and raise awareness about Dying Matters.

We want to support you in helping the people you care for to live and die well with progressive illnesses and disease. You could become part of our growing community of End of Life Care Ambassadors.

This annual programme is collaboratively run by the Rowcroft Hospice Education Team and the EOL Education & Hospital Palliative Care Team. For more information, you can request a copy of our information booklet by emailing the Rowcroft Education team education@rowcrofthospice.org.uk and to 'express an interest', use the QR code or link below to complete the application form.

This programme is for healthcare professionals working in South Devon only. We cannot accept applications from those working outside of our area.

> Very helpful course with a project that helps you make a difference. Great to meet new people and discuss emotive topics in a compassionate, non-judgemental group.

> I feel empowered to make a change

> I have not only gained a broader knowledge base, but I also feel I have learnt more about myself as the course has progressed. Everything I have picked up on this programme is something I can take back to my work, improve my role and maybe pass that onto others.
